Among those present were Judge O'Leary, Judge Wilson, Jimmie Fitzgerald, Murphy, Justus Thorne, C. F. Blackburn, Geo. and Lewis Herancourt, Mr. Price, Prof. Smith, and representatives from the Enquirer, Gazette, Volksblatt and Star.

Police Court.

Jerry Chaisord stepped up before the good-natured Judge, and with smiles upon his face said that he supposed that he had been drunk. The smiles vanished when the Judge told him to pay a fine of $10 and costs.

James Conkling was charged with maliciously destroying a looking-glass belonging to John Schulze. His head looked as though somebody had been trying to destroy him. His Honor taxed him $10 and costs for smashing the mirror.

Old Mose Solomon was up again for drunkenness. He begged to be let off, saying that he would go right straight home. "Before you'd get home," remarked the Judge, "you'd be taken in for being the Wandering Jew, but I'll give you a chance. Go."

Pat Davey stepped up to the front, shaking so hard that the rim of the plug hat he held in his hand was shaken loose from the crown. He was sent out for ten days to get sobered up.

For the last few days the police have been trying to capture Joseph Dordomy, who is wanted for committing a serious assault on a man named Fred Meyer. Yesterday afternoon he was spotted sitting on a fence in Deereck.

Officers Ennis and Goebel made a sneak on him and succeeded in capturing their man. This morning his case was continued until next Saturday.

H. Youngjohn was fined $10 and costs for stealing a sack of corn from a car in the L. & C. Railroad yards.

Robt. E. Lee, a colored man, was charged with disorderly conduct. The Judge was undecided what sentence to impose upon the distinguished gentleman until Lee's wife stepped up and testified that he treated her shamefully and then His Honor's mind was readily made up. Three months was the sentence.

Joseph McCann was charged with committing a shameful assault upon Mary Shorten. His case was continued until the 25th inst. in order to give McCann a chance to get his witnesses, as he denies having committed the assault.

Adam Hardin, a barber, for insulting a little girl in the City Buildings Park, was sent out for thirty days.

Pearly Wilson pleaded guilty to being drunk. "Well," remarked the Judge, "its very seldom you see one of the Wils in family in trouble, and under the circumstances, I'll let her off with the costs."

Mary Gallagher—old time Mery—went out for three months for drunkenness.

A Spider's Instinct.

[Harper's Young People.]

Spiders crawling more abundantly and conspicuously than usual upon the indoor walls of houses foretell the near approach of rain; but the following anecdote shows that some of their habits are the equally certain indication of frost being at hand. Quartermaster Disjonval, seeking to beguile the tedium of his eight years of prison life at Utrecht, had studied attentively the habits of the spider. In December of 1794 the French army, on whose success his restoration to liberty depended, was in Holland, and victory seemed certain if the frost, then of unprecedented severity, continued. The Dutch Envoy had failed to negotiate a peace and Holland was despairing, when the frost suddenly broke. The Dutch were now exulting, and the French Generals were preparing to retreat; but the spider warned Disjonval that the thaw would be of short duration. He contrived to communicate with the army of his countrymen and its Generals relied upon his assurance that within a few days the water would again be passable by troops. They delayed their retreat. Within twelve days the frost had returned, and the French army triumphed.
